DETAILED ACTION

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 48-69 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-24 of U.S. Patent No. 6,756,634. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because of the following reasons.

As for claims 48-56, the patent discloses all claimed elements including the x:y ratio composition of said nitride compound that varies from 1-1.75 and its application in the claimed memory systems and the silicon dioxide layer in relation to said first layer. The difference between the patent and the claimed invention might be the way the claims are organized and the specific expression "below" to express the location of said second portion in relation to said first portion of the nitride film. However, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to conclude the claims in the patent reading on the claimed in the invention since both share the expression "elevetionally" which could mean "above" or "below" from broader sense of interpretation.

Claims 57-59 are disclosed in claims 6,7 of the patent, the only difference being the position of first portion expressed in relation to the position of the second portion in the claims while the relationship is reversed in the patent.

As for claim 60, the expression "elevetionally" in claim 6 could mean "above" or "below" from broader sense of interpretation.

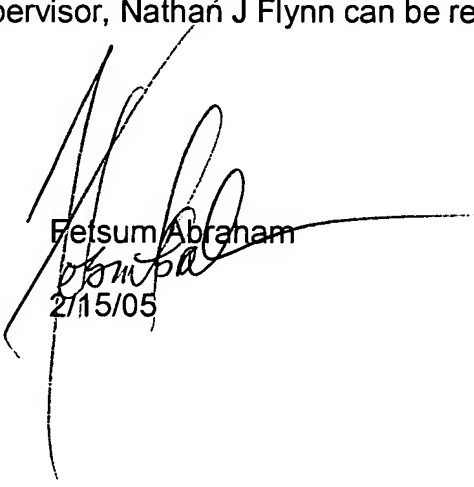

Claim 61 is covered by claim 61 of the patent.

Claims 62,63 are covered by claim 6 of the patent.

Claims 64-69 are covered by claims 8-12 of the patent with the exception of the x:y ratio. However, the ratio given in claim 64 is the least value of the ratio with the other end ratio value being infinite.
